ABSTRACT In cosmetic dermatology, dermal filling is a quick, minimal invasive treatment that requires no down time for the patients. Using fillers in facial rejuvenation is in fact remodelling the face, restoring youth and beauty to the face. The use of injectable fillers to rejuvenate the aging face is common treatment that is being used all around the Globe. The treatment techniques and the filling materials are changing rapidly for the better, as these improvements allow the doctors to use fillings on different parts of the patient's body. They give amazing results especially in those areas which traditional facelifts fail to address adequately. This requires a precise diagnosis as to what part of the face is going to be corrected.

Key Words: Antiaging – treatment, wrinkles, dermal filling, cosmetic dermatology
